Siblings A.G., Maxine and Julian Syjuco of Jack of None win at the 2018 Independent Music Awards in NYC

Siblings A.G. Syjuco, Maxine Syjuco and Julian Syjuco of the Filipino experimental art-rock band Jack of None received a total of two wins and eight nominations in this year's Independent Music Awards in New York City.

Dubbed as "The Grammys of the Independent Music Scene," the prestigious international competition has also bestowed individual artist nominations to A.G. Syjuco for Best Eclectic Producer of the Year, and Maxine Syjuco for Best Album Artist Photographer and Designer of the Year.

During the awarding ceremony held at The Lincoln Center for Performing Arts in New York City last Saturday, Jack of None took home the awards Best Eclectic EP of the Year for the band's EP/album titled "The Tattle Tale Heart," and Best Eclectic Producer of the Year for A.G. Syjuco's work on the band's second album titled "Who Shot Bukowski?"

Included in their nominations were Best Spoken Word Album of the Year, Best Spoken Word Song of the Year, Best Eclectic Album of the Year, Best Eclectic Song of the Year, Best Album Art, Photography and Design, and Best Lyric Video of the Year.

The competition's panel of judges is comprised of esteemed musicians and artists from around the world, including Tom Waits, Tori Amos, Sepultura, Slayer, Ben Lee, The Kills, Sublime, Macy Gray and Passenger, among others.
